2021 Annual Report

ARRE
ASXL RARE RESEARCH ENDOWMENT

Laying the groundwork

We hired our first staff person to accelerate our work, built partnerships with organizations that can help us achieve our goals faster, and positioned ourselves to launch a significant project to develop our Research Roadmap in 2022.

Our Research Roadmap will establish research priorities based on family input, guide our future research investments, and catalyze scientific work on the projects that will lead us toward life-improving treatments as quickly and efficiently as possible.

Pillars of our strategic plan

- Invest in and drive ASXL research
- Improve the clinical care and management of those with ASXL syndromes
- Educate, empower, and connect the community of families, medical professionals, and researchers

2021 highlights

Community support

Volunteers raised over $28,000 to support our work using Facebook Fundraisers, including 18 campaigns for GivingTuesday

Research progress

Launched the "Ask a Researcher" online series for families to learn about the research grants we fund

A big grant

Received a $50,000 grant as a top applicant for the Chan Zuckerberg Initiative's Rare As One program

Building networks

Hosted the 2021 ASXL Family Conference and ASXL Research Symposium virtually
